Soccer club seeks costly artificial turf for Lochside Park

By Roger Stonebanks

CORDOVA BAY Soccer Club has asked Saanich council to convert two standard grass soccer fields at Lochside Park to artificial turf in time for the 2006/2007 season.

"The current facility is inadequate and limiting and the resultant year-round facility would considerably expand recreational access and opportunity," Frank Leversedge, chair of the Field Enhancement Lochside Park Soccer group, wrote to Saanich council in September.

The proposal is an alternative to the floodlit community sports field at Claremont Secondary School which the soccer club planned to develop through a partnership between the municipality and Saanich School District 63. This initiative was abandoned following strong community opposition to the installation of floodlights because of the impact on neighbouring homes.

Leversedge acknowledged there would be "an immense fundraising challenge" for the club which estimates the cost of two artificial turf fields would be $1.6 million, or $840,000 for one field. He said $100,000 is available from Saanich to cover the loss of the practice soccer field on Cordova Bay Road opposite the Trio operation, which is now a townhouse development. The club has more than another $100,000 available, including $50,000 formerly assigned to floodlighting the Claremont field.

As for raising the balance of $1.4 million, Leversedge said potential sources of fundraising include various levels of government, non-government agencies, the soccer club community, diverse funding and interest-free loans.

There is a trend to convert grass fields to artificial turf in the Lower Mainland and Greater Victoria, added Leversedge, citing Topaz Park in the city and Hampton Park in Saanich. "Instead of a five-month shutdown during the longest and best days of the year, plus mid-December to mid-January, the fields would be open every day of the year. Even snow can be removed."

The Cordova Bay Association has informed Saanich Parks and the soccer club it believes there should be complete information and full public consultation before such a major change is undertaken at Lochside Park.

Commenting on the soccer club's application, Saanich Parks Manager Ray Roer told The Cordovan that before proceeding with the Lochside Park project the Parks and Recreation Department is working with the club to develop appropriate community input, cost estimates and budgets. "It's no secret that we are looking at ways to better meet the needs of the sporting community," he added.

"We would expect we may be in a position to meet with the community in the New Year, but it's unlikely any funding would be in place until 2007. However, the Hampton Park/Gorge Soccer project is serving as a model for us to follow."

As for questions being raised about the Cordova Bay Soccer Club's possible claim to priority use of the Lochside Park playing fields if it provides funding for artificial turf, Mr. Roer said this and other concerns will be addressed as part of the process of community consultation.

In a submission to the July 19, 2004 committee of the whole of Saanich council, seeking $100,000 funding for artificial turf in Hampton Park, club president T. Marra said the Gorge Soccer Association had 1,400 players and in Greater Victoria about 10,000 people of all ages play year-round.

Mr. Marra said the company supplying the artificial turf had agreed to lower the usual cost of about $900,000 for a full-size field to $500,000 provided the soccer association prepare the field and met all drainage requirements.

There was general public support for the application at the meeting with some reservations about parking problems, and committee of the whole supported the request, which was later approved by council. Coun. Vic Derman congratulated the association for their initiative and said that installing artificial turf saves on maintenance costs and results in fewer injuries to players than natural turf. He hoped the parking issue would be resolved and that the public would have access to the new soccer field.

At a subsequent meeting on May 30 this year Saanich council approved an additional $250,000 interest-free loan to the Gorge Soccer Association with a five-year repayment.

As you can see, we need your support.

Our community needs a new CT Scanner so we can use today's technology to make faster, more accurate diagnoses. It can mean the difference between prompt intervention and treatment vs the requirement for further tests elsewhere, or even exploratory surgery.

In short, an up-to-date CT Scanner is an essential tool for any modern hospital, and our old scanner has reached the end of its useful life.

What the Cordova Bay Association does for you

ALL proposals for development, subdivision and zoning changes in the community are examined by the association executive to make sure they meet the requirements of the Cordova Bay Local Area Plan.

The association also:

Sends representatives to attend council and other relevant municipal meetings to monitor issues of concern to the community and to place the community's position before Mayor and Council when required.

Provides information and assistance to community residents with concerns or questions about changes in local planning.

Provides and maintains the community notice board in the Cordova Bay Plaza.

Publishes and delivers The Cordovan to your door four times a year and maintains a website (www.cbasn.com) with news and information of relevance to Cordova Bay.

This work is all done by volunteers. Help support YOUR community association by becoming a member today.

Emergency preparedness

Cordova Bay's emergency container needs donations of vital supplies

By David Gerrior

LAST TIME I reported, we had sealed the container at Cordova Bay United Church and have now cleaned it up of a large number of giant spiders and debris. We are now manufacturing shelves and these will be installed shortly.

We need many items to make the container effective in an emergency, so here are the top ten. The priority is non-perishable items and once these are obtained we will look for items such as food supplies with a long shelf-life.

New or used generator. I know this is a big-ticket item but you may know someone who would be willing to donate an operational generator or who sells them and might be interested to donate one in this worthwhile cause.

Portable stretchers. We need two light-weight (aluminum) stretchers that can be carried by two people.

Emergency kits or bulk medical supplies. Using bulk supplies we could make kits for people to use in their homes.

Flashlights. All types are needed, but the best would be the yellow water-resistant ones you see police and fire fighters use.

Batteries. Many are going to be needed in all shapes and sizes. Please phone me on this if you can help. A battery tester is also essential.

Portable radio and small portable television. These should be battery-operated, although the new hand-cranked radios are self-charging and a real asset.

Waterless hand-washing kits. These can be individual or bulk. We will repackage them if necessary.

Thermal blankets. The aluminum foil variety are preferred. They take up less room.

Walkie-talkies. Two are required with variable frequencies if possible so we can match up with local authorities.

Please phone me at 658-4835 or email me at dgerrior@shaw.ca if you can help. In the next issue—10 more items.

Doctor's house-call service offers payment alternatives

DOCTOR Ted Rosenberg, whose private in-home medical care service for seniors was featured in the fall issue of The Cordovan, points out that his group has been taking new patients since November 2003.

People enrolling in the practice have the choice of either paying an annual practice fee of $1,250 or paying individually for non-insured items according to the BCMA schedule as they require them.

Dr. Rosenberg explains that patients choosing the annual practice fee are not billed for any other service.

Dr. Rosenberg lives in Cordova Bay and further information on his medical service can be obtained by phoning him at 658-0554 or by email at trosenberg@gem-health.com.

Bridge for seniors

REGULAR bridge sessions for seniors are offered at St. David-by-the-Sea church hall, 5182 Cordova Bay Road, every Thursday from 1:00 to 4:00 p.m. at a cost of only $2. Enter at the back of the church. Visitors are welcome. For more information phone Wallace Macgregor at 658-8956.

The challenge of aging skin

By Dr. Lance Setterfield

THE AGING PROCESS of our skin is influenced by several things beyond our control. However, there are two factors we can combat: exposure to sunlight and free radicals.

Exposure to sunlight causes "photo" aging due to short wavelength (UVB) injury—sunburn—to the outer layers of the skin (epidermis) and long wavelength (UVA) to the middle layers (dermis). DNA is damaged and vitamin A and other nutrients essential for healthy cell production and immunity are destroyed.

Free radicals result from smoking and exposure to pollution which accelerates the aging of skin and may increase the chance of skin cancers

Photo aging results in fine lines and wrinkles, rough texture and dry skin, discoloration (brown spots or white marks), broken or prominent blood vessels, harmless brown warty lesions, and skin cancer. Consult your doctor if you have any growing lumps, sores that don't heal, or new spots, especially dark brown or black.

What can you do? Protect yourself from sun exposure completely if possible and apply sunscreen every day, summer or winter, sunshine or rain (UVA penetrates clouds). Your sunscreen must contain antioxidants to minimize the effects of UVA. Avoid smoking and exposure to pollution. Antioxidants in creams minimize the effects of free radicals.

Replacing essential nutrients with a healthy diet is not sufficient. Vitamins A and C, for example, are virtually used up before reaching the skin. It is essential that vitamin A, depleted by UVA each day, be replaced by applying a cream.

There are new advances in skin care, backed by science, with measurable results. Ultra-violet photography shows damage not visible to the naked eye. Is your skin as good as it looks?

Dr. Setterfield's topic in the March issue of The Cordovan will be skin cancer.

SAFE BOATING

By Patricia Sparks, N. Member of the Canadian Power & Sail Squadrons. 658-8614

Your boat will benefit from good winter care

WINTER IS ALMOST here again and hopefully you have prepared your vessel for the coming season. Acid, rust and moisture damage can be very costly and loving, tender care now will save you hours of work, perhaps costly, when the weather warms and you want to go cruising again.

Cover your boat, remembering to leave openings for air circulation to prevent mold and mildew which breed quickly in our climate. If you use a fibreglass tarpaulin, do put protection between it and your canvas. Those tarps are abrasive.

To prevent mildew, mold and condensation in the cabin one or two very low wattage electric heaters are a must. These are a wonderful way to keep a motor home or camper warm and dry as well.

A light left on in the engine compartment proves enough warmth. The engine should be drained unless anti-freeze is used. To ensure that all the water is out push a screwdriver into the drain holes as rust and other crud will often block the openings. Don't forget the impeller pumps but leave yourself a warning note that they have been drained. The impellers should be replaced as a regular maintenance item along with fuel and water filters, but this is spring-time stuff.

Change the engine oil and transmission fluid. Old oil is full of impurities and acid which eat away at metal. Oil should be changed twice a year, regardless.

Fuel tanks are best left full and you could add a fuel conditioner to stabilize things.

Spark plugs should be removed, a "fogging" solution sprayed into the cylinders and the spark plugs replaced.

Outboard engines need to be flushed with fresh water (as you do after each trip!). Run the carburetor dry, apply water-resistant grease to the prop shaft, etc., and change the gear oil in the leg.

Periodically charge the batteries during the winter, making sure the electrolyte level is just above the mark. Ensure the ship-to-shore power connection is properly grounded and check your wiring. Faulty wiring is the main cause of galvanic action in a boat. For boats on trailers, remove the battery and store it in your garage.

If your boat has scuppers in the cockpit area, ensure they are clear and free-flowing. A blockage in this area can cause a bathtub effect. (I know. I've had the pleasure of getting my feet wet.)

Talking of scuppers, close your sea cocks and empty the holding tanks, both water and waste water, and also ensure that the head is pumped out and clear. Run fresh water through and pump out thoroughly. Take a look at the bilge area and clean it up if need be. This is also a good time to check that the bilge pump is working properly. Ensure that the float switches are unobstructed and that any foreign objects are removed from that area.

Needless to say, a regular visit to your boat during the winter season is definitely in order. If your boat is afloat you never know when that "automatic" bilge pump will stop working.

Allow sufficient slack in your mooring lines to allow for weight difference. Snow can be very heavy. For sailboats you may want to remove the sails if you are a fair weather sailor. Store them in a dry place, i.e. your home.

The other den of iniquity is the anchor locker, if you have one. Clean the chain and flush the locker. We are fortunate to have wonderful, muddy bays. Great for anchoring, but very messy for the boat.

Six-storey building is next in Sayward Hill condo development

WITH ALL 58 units in the gracefully curved building at 5332 Sayward Hill Crescent sold, excavation for the next project at 738 Sayward Hill Terrace is under way.

As with the previous project, site preparation will include bank stabilization and Mohan Jawl of Jawl Development Corporation reports that while this will require a temporary detour along a portion of the south boundary trail it will ultimately result in improvements to the landscaping of the area.

Mr. Jawl adds that site preparation and bank stabilization is expected to be completed by the end of November or early December. "We expect to start work on the foundation of the new building by mid-November," he said. "The foundation work may involve some piles in the north-east corner of the site but this will not be known for certain until further site work is done. We anticipate a construction period of 12 months with occupancy by January 2007."

The new building will be a six-storey concrete and steel structure containing 18 condominium residential units averaging 1,850 sq. ft. of living space.

Sales information packages including floor plans and prices will be available in February and the updated model of the Sayward Hill site showing the new building is on display at the offices of Hoog & Kierulf Architects in the Mattick's Farm complex.

For more information, or to view the model, please contact Jay, Ingrid or Karen at 658-4700 or email info@saywardhill.com.

KIWANIS CLUB of CORDOVA BAY

By EDWIN HIPSEY

Christmas cake sales high on project list

CONGRATULATIONS to the club's new president, Dave Poge. At our last meeting discussion was held on various events and proposals for the ensuing year. A number of suggestions and projects were covered and members hope to put many of them into effect.

The sale of Kiwanis Christmas cakes, one of our more successful fund raisers, was high on the list and club members were reminded that last year all of our cakes were sold by early November.

This issue of The Cordovan will be the last before Christmas so we are mentioning the cake sale in the hope of avoiding a repeat of last year when many regular buyers were disappointed.

Please remember that we will deliver your cakes, so please don't delay and order today by phoning Mickey Stevens at 727-3625.

As he did last year, Cordova Bay resident Kurt Robb, of Cordova Bay Tree Service, is again generously donating his time and equipment in support of our fund-raising Christmas tree chipping by donation. This will be held at Cordova Bay Plaza and the Galey Farm on Friday, Saturday and Sunday, January 6, 7 and 8.

Soccer directors receive Sport B.C.'s Community Sport Hero recognition

TWO of Cordova Bay Soccer Club's directors have been honoured by Sport B.C. for their volunteer efforts with the local club.

Brian Collard and Frank Leversedge have each received the Community Sports Hero award which recognizes community sport volunteers for their dedication and leadership within B.C.'s sports system.

Collard is in charge of game schedules for the club while Leversedge is sponsorship coordinator and in charge of dispute resolution.

Eleven years ago, Sport B.C. began recognizing outstanding volunteers at the President's awards reception held before the annual Athlete of the Year awards, now in their fortieth year. The concept was recently extended by creating the sport heroes award at the community level.

The criteria for nominating a Community Sport Hero are that the individual has been or continues to be a dedicated sport volunteer for an extended period, has unselfishly given his or her time to sport in the community and is an "unsung hero" of sport, deserving of recognition.

Cordova Bay history makes an ideal Christmas gift

A FEW copies of Anne Pearson's entertaining history of Cordova Bay are still available at $10 a copy. Entitled Sea-Lake: Recollections and History of Cordova Bay and Elk Lake the 120-page book describes early land sales, the history of the many farms and orchards that once graced the area and includes amusing anecdotes about the McMorran and Mattick families plus other "founding" settlers of the area.

The autographed book is well-illustrated with photos and maps and makes fascinating reading. To obtain copies please phone Maurice Chazottes, editor of The Cordovan, at 658-4030. Proceeds go to the CBA's community fund.

New centre expected to open in early 2006

By Daphne Chazottes.

THE FIRST phase of our seniors' centre is now under way, and we still hoping for the opening in early January, in spite of delays because of the teachers' strike. We are very much looking forward to bringing all our programs together under one roof, although there may be one or two programs such as ballroom dancing and T'ai Chi that require more space.

Having a place to call our own--at least for daytime hours during the week--will make a huge difference to the operation of our association, and we will be asking for more volunteer assistance to keep the centre running smoothly. So far we have had so many members offering their help that we don't anticipate a problem finding additional energetic volunteers.

Meanwhile, we are very grateful to Cordova Bay Beach Estates for allowing us to use the Beach House, and to McMorrans' Restaurant for their generous support while we have been waiting for our own space.

The Tuesday Drop In meetings with guest speakers will continue at the Beach House at Cordova Bay Beach Estates (opposite McMorrans' restaurant) until December 13. There will then be an opportunity to register for the winter programs and events starting in January. Watch for the Saanich Recreation Guide due out in a few weeks. Tuesday Drop Ins start at 10:15 a.m. and will resume in the New Year on January 10, hopefully in our new centre.

If you need a ride to any of our events, please call Rich at 658-5085. One of our volunteer drivers will pick you up at your residence and deliver you safely back home.

It's nearly time to renew memberships in the Cordova Bay 55 Plus Association. The membership fee for 2006 will remain at $40 per year. New memberships may be taken out at the December 13 Drop In meeting. New members are very welcome.

The Church by the Lake

Our desire is that Elk Lake Baptist Church be a place where people feel accepted, experience God's love and care and the love and care of the community, and find a place where they can make their own special contribution.

Regular Sunday Services

10:00 a.m. Christian education classes for all ages

11:00 a.m. Worship service.

Visitors are welcome at all our services

Some regular events at

Elk Lake Baptist Church:

Youth Group — The energy of youth is welcomed in our church. The youth group meets weekly.

College and Career Group meets every Wednesday night at 7:30 p.m. Phone 658-8111 for information as to location.

60 More or Less seniors' group meets at 12 noon on the first Thursday of each month for lunch and an interesting program. The cost is $3.50 and everyone is welcome.

We have an Art Club for all those interested. This is held every second Saturday of the month at 9:30 a.m. in the old church hall.

If you are interested in participating in any of the above programs or would like more information about our church, please phone 658-8111 or fax us at 658-8431

Nominations invited for Cordova Bay Association director positions

THERE ARE SIX two-year director positions to be filled at the society's annual general meeting in April, 2006. Three of the incumbents (Roger Stonebanks, Susan Bridges and Maurice Chazottes) are willing to be re-appointed, providing an opportunity for three new faces to be elected to the board.

Under the society's constitution, a three-person nominating committee has been appointed to invite nominations and prepare a slate of candidates. If a total of six names is nominated, these persons would be acclaimed as directors at the AGM. Otherwise a ballot will be conducted.

The nominating committee is chaired by John Noble (658-1139), joined by Peggy Hancyk (658-4278) and Bob Chapman (727-7460). Please contact any of them to offer your services or if you wish to nominate someone as a candidate. Please ensure that anyone you nominate is willing to serve and is a member of the Cordova Bay Association.

Saanich offers leaf collection in November and December

IF YOU pile those pesky leaves at the curbside Saanich will collect them over two periods—November 17 to 23 and December 12 to 16—with a warning that the dates are approximate.

Leaves must be placed adjacent to the road (that is, within one metre) in rows or in piles and must be clear of open ditches or catch basins.

There must be unobstructed and safe access to the piles for large equipment, and only leaves will be collected. Needles, branches, grass or garden waste will not be accepted but can be dropped off at the public works yard on Borden Street at McKenzie Avenue between 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., Monday to Friday, and 9:00 a.m. to 1:00 p.m. on Saturdays.

It's time to join or renew your CBA membership!

AS WE NEAR the end of the year it's time for members of the Cordova Bay Association for Community Affairs to renew memberships and welcome new members. The cost is only $5 a year per person and membership gives you a voice in matters affecting our community, such as land-use changes and traffic volume.

Who are we? We are Cordova Bay residents who care about the community in which we live. What do we do? We attend Saanich council meetings and make representations to Mayor and council on local issues. When developers apply to Saanich for rezoning and subdivisions the municipality requires them to come before us to review their proposals. We make sure the proposed changes conform to the Cordova Bay Local Area Plan and fit into the neighbourhood. We look into questions and concerns about traffic matters. We support beneficial local endeavours. We keep the community informed through our newsletter, The Cordovan, which is delivered four times a year to more than 2,600 households in Cordova Bay by a band of more than 40 dedicated volunteers. When necessary we hold public meetings. Our Annual General Meeting is held every April and all members are invited to attend.

What have we accomplished? Everything from successful lobbying to prevent ugly wind turbines being erected in the sea just off Cordova Bay to convincing Saanich that pedestrian and traffic safety measures were urgently needed along Cordova Bay road.

To do this and more on a continuing basis we need your support through membership and participation. Welcome, and please call me if you require more information. — Roger Stonebanks, President. (658-5125).

MEMBERSHIP APPLICATION OR RENEWAL FORM 2006
